FCC ANNOUNCES KIM HART AS PRESS SECRETARY TO CHAIRMAN TOM WHEELER

Washington, D.C. – The Federal Communications Commission announced today the appointment of Kim Hart as Press Secretary to Chairman Tom Wheeler. Ms. Hart will serve as Commission Spokeswoman in FCC's Office of Media Relations, led by Communications Director Shannon Gilson.

"I am pleased to welcome Kim to the communications team. Kim's years of experience covering technology and telecommunications issues make her an outstanding fit to serve as Chairman Wheeler's spokesperson. She is well-versed in Commission issues and well-regarded among her peers," said Communications Director Shannon Gilson.

Kim Hart previously served as Director of Corporate Communications at Neustar, a Virginia-based information services and analytics company. Before joining Neustar in 2012, Kim was Politico's Senior Technology Reporter, focusing on policy issues affecting the technology and telecommunications industries. At Politico, she helped launch the Morning Tech daily newsletter and Politico Pro, the publication's subscription news service.

Previously, she launched and wrote the Hillicon Valley blog for The Hill and covered technology as a business reporter and columnist The Washington Post. She studied journalism and public relations at the University of Florida and received a masters degree in public affairs journalism from the University of Maryland. She has taught journalism classes at Georgetown University and George Washington University.
